ROGERSON COMMUNITIES

dignity. longevity. vitality.

Elders are capable of leading rich, fulfilling lives when given the support and resources they need to live independently.

Rogerson Communities has been providing housing and health care for elders since it was founded in 1860. As the area's premier provider of adult day health and fitness programs, Rogerson is committed to whole health, offering elders the chance to reap the benefits of yoga, fitness and weightlifting, fine arts, creative writing, and music.

Rogerson also develops and manages innovative, affordable housing, often working with other non-profit organizations to reclaim abandoned property or to redevelop historic buildings, preserving the beauty and integrity of the original space.
