

The Boston Globe

NAMES

Brit d'Arbeloff presented with Rogerson Award by Governor Charlie Baker

By Lillian Brown Globe Correspondent, May 21, 2019, 5:12 p.m.

Brit d'Arbeloff surrounded by members of her family (from left) Alejandro, Sofia, Annie, and Nori d'Arbeloff. (Michael Blanchard)

Brit d'Arbeloff, the first woman to graduate from Stanford with a mechanical engineering degree and a pioneer in her field, received the Charles E. Rogerson Award at Rogerson's annual Welcome Home Gala, held at the Boston Cyclorama. She was joined by several young members of the d'Arbeloff family, including Alejandro, Sofia, Annie, and Nori.

Governor Charlie Baker presented d'Arbeloff with the award. Former WCVB-TV reporter Jorge Quiroga served as the event's emcee and spoke with Rogerson's President and CEO Walter Ramos. The event raised more than $400,000 in support of Rogerson's adult day health, fitness, memory loss, and low-income housing programs.