ROGERSON COMMUNITIES

Rogerson Communities has been providing housing and health care for elders and low-income individuals and families since it was founded in 1860. Today, the non-profit organization serves more than 2,000 greater Boston families through 29 facilities and programs. These services include housing, adult day health programs, fitness training, and memory loss care and treatment. As a non-profit, Rogerson must raise private funds to support its properties and programs.

- Pioneered adult day health programs, and now serves 350 medically disabled and memory impaired clients annually through these programs.
- Offers Rogerson Fitness First — a strength, mobility, balance and flexibility training program where elders use specially designed Nautilus equipment — free of charge to day program participants and residents of affordable housing facilities.
- Successfully completed the conversion of eight historic Boston buildings into affordable housing.
- Encourages interaction between residents and their neighbors by offering community spaces in Rogerson facilities to the broader community.
- Led the way in establishing the service coordinator model for independent elder housing, and also was the region's first management company to encourage elders to keep pets, a policy which is now used as a national model.
